About Shirley:

An active member of ANZEG, Shirley regularly exhibits her work at local, regional and national exhibitions. She is a well-known award winning embroiderer.

As a trained school teacher, she uses her skills, both in embroidery and education, tutoring all over New Zealand for the past 16 years. People enjoy her classes because of her low-stress approach. Shirley has completed both ANZEG's Diploma of Embroidery and the Diploma of Embroidery Teaching.

Under the name ShirleyP Designs, she sells and markets kits, patterns and embroidery supplies.

Shirley prefers using traditional techniques and materials in new, innovative ways, and particularly enjoys interpreting New Zealand themes using metal thread, surface stitch and needlelace. She often explores colour, texture and pattern in her work, and is also influenced by Celtic and Maori designs, as well as Steampunk style.
